From one-shot generation to exploratory creative optimization

Generative abundance shifts the central problem from producing one ad to searching, evaluating, and refining a creative decision space.

Generation becomes abundant; systematic selection and optimization become critical.